ADVERTISEMENT.

THIS Edition contains a Liſt of the late and preſent Houſe of Commons, ſhewing the Changes made in the Members of Parliament by the General Elections in 1780 and 1784. And it is further improved with the Additions of the Date when each City and Borough firſt ſent Repreſentatives to Parliament, the Right of Election in each Place, and the ſuppoſed Number of Electors. Where the Right of Election has been aſcertained by a Reſolution of the Houſe of Commons, the Date of that Reſolution is given. Where there is no Date to the Right of Election, there has been no Reſolution of the Houſe upon it; and the Cuſtom, which is given, is ſtill adhered to. The ſuppoſed Number of Electors follow.

EXPLANATION.

Abingdon firſt ſent Repreſentatives to Parliament in the 4th Year of the Reign of Philip and Mary. The Right of Election is in the Inhabitants not receiving Alms, or any Charity; by a Reſolution of the Houſe of Commons of the 18th of January, 1708. The ſuppoſed Number of Voters is 600.

Reſpecting the Liſts of Changes in all the great Offices, the Rule laid down, and purſued, in this little Book, is, to give, firſt, the Perſon or Perſons who held this or that Department at the Acceſſion of the preſent King, and then the Changes, or Alterations, which have been ſince made, with their Dates.

No Pains have been ſpared to be as accurate as poſſible: but Notice of any Errors will at all Times be thankfully received by the Publiſher; together with any Hints for Improvement.

A LIST of the late and preſent Members of Parliament.

 The names in Roman characters are the gentlemen elected at the General Elections in 1774 and 1780, and the names in Italic characters, are the gentlemen elected afterwards.

 The names in Italic characters are the new members elected at the General Election in 1784, and annexed are the other candidates, where there was an oppoſition, with the numbers that voted for each perſon.

From an attentive conſideration of the above ſtate, which is drawn up with as much accuracy as poſſible, from the Rolls and Journals of both Houſes of Parliament, the following facts may be deduced:

In the firſt place it appears, that ſince the year 1509, (when it is generally ſuppoſed that the duration of Parliaments was extended beyond one year) only four Parliaments have exiſted beyond ſeven years, and that only ſeven more have had a ſexennial duration.

In the ſecond place, it is ſufficiently evident, that of the reſt only five Parliaments have laſted above five years; only two Parliaments above four, and but two above three.

Thirdly, of the remaining number, only nine exiſted above two years, and no leſs than thirty-four for a ſhorter period.

Laſtly, it is certain, that, one Parliament with another, the duration of each ſince the reign of Henry the Seventh, does not exceed the ſpace of two years and about nine months, even including the long Parliament in the reign of King Charles the Firſt, and the ſtill longer one which his ſon retained in exiſtence for the enormous period of about ſeventeen years.

SECRETARIES OF STATE.

[Until the reign of Henry VIII. there was only one Secretary of State; and until the reign of Elizabeth, the Secretaries were never of the privy council. From that time to the preſent, there have been two Secretaries of State, and ſometimes three, and thus council has ſeldom been held without the preſence of at leaſt one of them. From the death of Queen Anne to the rebellion of 1745, there was a third Secretary for Scotland; and from 1768, to the loſs of America in 1782, there was one for the colonies. The departments of the two Secretaries are divided into one foreign, the other domeſtic. With the home Secretary, all grants, pardons, and regulations in civil matters of every kind, are made out and executed. To the foreign Secretary belong all diſpatches to and from other courts, and all buſineſs appertaining to the ſame. They have the cuſtody of the privy ſignet, becauſe the King's private letters are ſealed with it. There are four clerks of the ſignet who make out grants, patents, &c. which have the ſign manual, to which the ſignet being added, it is a warrant to the privy ſeal; as the privy ſeal is a warrant to the great ſeal. The paper-office belongs to the Secretaries of State, where all papers, letters, memorials, negociations, are depoſited and preſerved.]

ADMIRALTY.

[The power of Lord High Admiral hath, ſince the reign of Queen Anne, been executed by commiſſioners. The ſtat. of Charles II. aſcertains his authority in theſe words: "That the Lord High Admiral for the time being ſhall have full power and authority to grant commiſſions to inferior vice admirals or commanders in chief of any ſquadron of ſhips; to call and aſſemble courts martial conſiſting of commanders and captains; and no court martial, where pains of death ſhall be inflicted, ſhall conſiſt of leſs than five captains at leaſt; the admiral's lieutenant to be as to this purpoſe eſteemed as a captain; and in no caſe wherein ſentence of death ſhall paſs by the articles for regulating the government of his Majeſty's ſhips of war or any of them), except mutiny, there ſhall be execution of ſuch ſentence without leave of the Lord High Admiral, if the offence be committed in narrow ſeas. But in caſe any of the offences aforeſaid be committed in any voyage beyond the narrow ſeas, then execution ſhall be done by order of the commander in chief. He appoints coroners to view dead bodies found on the coaſts, and judges in the High Court of Admiralty. To him belong all fines and forfeitures of all tranſgreſſions at ſea, and at the ſea ſhore; and in ports from the firſt bridge on rivers to the ſea, goods of pirates, waifs, wrecks, &c.]
